I like getting dressed up within limits

In his bedroom I watch the teacher pick up a tie from the floor

He has one wife but I'm the little wife

In which Princess Kate implicitly demands that every man she wants must want her back

Princess Kate is smiling

A man delivers her champagne and he laughs his head off

In a poetry-themed assembly, a drama teacher recites a war poem. The boy writer is sitting in the audience blushing. "At the end of Gallipoli, the soldier falls down and there is suddenly blood on his silk kerchief," the last line reads.

Wear out "my boyfriend is at the bar and I don't know when he'll be back" until it gets worn and threadbare. I am feeling so bad when I hear about all the funny things that happened in the bar. Take the boys to MY restaurant now I want to break up.

Financially responsible and in love

My boyfriend is pretty old and he comes to visit me on campus in his work clothes. "How are all your jobs going?" I ask. "I've lost count of the things you are doing."

He says if he could go back in time he would have picked a couple of different university subjects. "It would be incredible to go overseas" he says. I am a young and fresh flower for him and he is asking what marks the other girls in my class got.

"I love old men, they are my secret pleasure," I think (he's almost 30!). He transfers some keys from his pocket into his satchel and frowns.

We don't have sex, we make love.
